STRATEGIST | FACILITATOR

David works with Boards, executives and senior leaders on business and organisational strategies. He also mentors and coaches senior leaders. David's pragmatic blend of expertise and experience helps organisations meet tomorrow's challenges. Examples of his work include:

- detailed business model reviews; identification and evaluation of strategic growth options; investment analysis of $300M-$3B capital projects; and advisor/facilitator on technology and innovation strategies.
- review and redesign of operating models, including: strategic re-design of a tier 2 global engineering firm; operating model redesign for the subsidiary of an ASX 20 company; and a concept study of a remote operating centre for an oil & gas major.
- facilitator of more than 100 Board, executive and senior leadership workshops including: fundamental strategic reviews; organisational and operating model reviews; team effectiveness and alignment workshops; and post event reviews. Beyond facilitation, David's depth and breadth of expertise expands a team's capacity.

His clients include: resources and related services companies; professional service firms; NFP's and government. They range from SME's through to large ASX firms.

BACKGROUND

David came to consulting as a successful CEO, having transformed the organisation to become the clear market leader. This included strong commercial success: bid, won, negotiated and delivered multi-year, multi-million dollar contracts. He also designed and launched an Executive MBA program at Curtin's Graduate School of Business. His work has traversed China, Singapore, Malaysia, Japan, Africa and Germany.

David teaches the MBA business strategy unit at UWA's Business School, where he is an Adjunct Associate Professor. He also delivers executive education as part of DukeCE's global educator network, and writes on strategy, organisational design and leadership.

David has a professional doctorate (DBA) and is a Fellow of the Australian Institute of Company Directors. He is a Board member at ChemCentreWA.
